Welcome to today's visitors Charlton Athletic as we return to Burnden Park after taking a point at Orient last Saturday.

I read several newspapers last weekend that told me we were fortunate to get away with a draw.

There is no way I can agree with that. We were perhaps a little fortunate in the first half when Orient missed chances, but after the interval we came into our own and had the opportunities to have won.

We did this in spite of having to reshuffle the team at half time when Willie Morgan had to stay off after ricking his back. This was most unfortunate since he had passed a fitness test on a thigh injury just before the game.

Paul Jones came on for his first game of the season, and didn't look as if he had been away at all.

There was another injury in that game to midfield man Ray Train. He got a kick on a knee early on and because of Morgan's problems had to play on longer than he really should.

But it says a lot for the character of the players that they are willing to go out there and give everything as they do week after week.

There was another boost for our scouting system this week with young strikers Chris Thompson and Mike Carter again being involved in the England Youth set-up. They went for a training session with them and were involved in a practice game against a West Brom side on Tuesday.

Our opponents today, Charlton, are an improving side and I expect the game to be an entertaining one.

Today's Visitors

Charlton's brand of attacking football has taken them close to the promotion challengers and enabled them to score in all but one of their games this season.

But Manager Andy Nelson has shown more than a little concern about his defence which has conceded 24 goals in 13 league games. A couple of weeks ago he went into the market to sign Coventry City defender Alan Dugdale for £50,000.

Up front, Charlton have absolutely no problems so long as Mike Flanagan continues to find the net so consistently. Mr. Nelson was in the enviable position of being able to sell Derek Hales to Derby for £280,000 last season and still not weaken his attack.

Flanagan took over where Hales left off and he finished last term with 23 goals. He has already hit 12 this season, the sweetest of all being the three he crashed into Tottenham's net all within an 11 minute spell in the second half.

Flanagan was given a free transfer by Spurs in 1971 even though he had gained England youth honours with them. "I waited six years for the chance to show them they were wrong!" smiled Mike after he had helped Charlton beat his old club 4-1.

Charlton's second forward in their normal 4-4-2 set up is Laurie Abrahams who joined them from Barking for a mere £1,000 in the summer.

Laurie celebrated his league debut on the opening day of the season by scoring in the 1-1 draw at Fulham.

Colin Powell, Hugh McAuley, Dick Tydeman and Keith Peacock have been filling the midfield positions.

Powell was another player spotted in non-league circles—with Barnet—who made an immediate impression when put into the side in 1972. McAuley, a former Liverpool Reserve player joined Charlton from Plymouth last season and has scored three goals this term.

Charlton invested a club record £65,000 when they signed Tydeman from Gillingham last season. But Peacock cost them nothing, he is now their longest serving player with well over 450 league appearances to his credit.

The defence has shown several changes. Bob Curtis and Mark Penfold have both filled the right back position though Phil Warman has looked secure on the other flank.

Jimmy Giles and Les Berry were the most consistent performers in the centre of the defence until Dugdale's arrival but David Campbell has also had a run here.

Steve Gritt has also performed well in the centre of the back four when called on as substitute. Charlton signed him on a free transfer from Bournemouth in the summer.

When he made his league bow for the Fourth Division club last season it was as a striker and he scored three goals in only six games. Now he has switched roles.

Jeff Wood got a surprise chance two seasons ago when goalkeeper Graham Tutt suffered the serious injury that was, sadly to end his career. Since his debut in February 1976, Wood hasn't missed a game.

Charlton lost only two of their opening ten league games but one of those came with a terrible thump, at Luton where they were crushed 7-1. "For the first time since I have been in professional football I felt disgusted after that performance" said a shattered Andy Nelson.

But he has since had several compensations. Charlton, for instance, became the first side to beat Brighton this season in a 4-3 thriller at The Valley. Best of all, though, was their exhilarating performance against Tottenham.

It was just like old times at The Valley that day when a crowd of 30,706 turned up compared with the 8,000-cdd they were getting for early games. But last Saturday they were back to 9,000 again.

The aim of Mr. Nelson and his team is to have the home fans cheering First Division football once again. It is 20 years since they left the top flight but they are certainly in a handy position to make a serious challenge now.
